

Giving His All Florida Educator Sees How Union Life Pays Off

Though he spends a great deal of time making sure that his fellow educators feel at home, Florida Education Association (FEA) staff member Dr. Kerr Fazzone waited a while before purchasing a home of his own. When he did, however, he knew just who to call.

"I found out about Union Plus from one of my colleagues," Fazzone says of the Union Plus Mortgage Program. "I reached out immediately after we decided to begin actively looking for a home." Since that first phone call, Fazzone says the Union Plus service has been "impeccable. Our loan officer made the entire process simple," he recalls. "He found the best mortgage for us and helped us decide the best time to lock in the interest rate."

Fazzone notes that his Union Plus representative also walked him through every step of the process and remained in close contact with his realtor, insurance agent, and the title company. He was so impressed, in fact, that he has already recommended the Union Plus Mortgage Program to others. "The union experience is unlike anything I have experienced before moving to Florida," he maintains. "It is comforting to know that you belong to an organization that advocates for better working conditions for its members."
